

No more insurance

We need medical care, not insurance. The insurance industry just serves to complicate matters and the added bureaucracy which demands to be paid for is unnecessary with a few changes.

Imagine never wondering if you can see a doctor when you need to... in fact, no need for an appointment either. More doctors will make house calls if there is enough incentive for them to do so.

The doctor should never be more than a phone call away!

Imagine never wondering how you would obtain or pay for insurance or treatments/surgeries ever again, yet having the best medical care available.

If we take the right steps to change the system we have now, you won't have to imagine any more. It will be reality.

Free Medical Care for All Without Taxing Anyone

WE CAN DO THIS!

21st Century Solutions for a 21st Century World

Never before has the possibility of doing what we suggest been feasible. The technology is just now reaching the point where we can be identified by biometric markers and eliminate paperwork, ID cards and a whole host of other money-wasting facets of our current system.

We envision a world in which money is no longer an object at all. Literally. Instead, money will come into existence when it is earned and cease to exist when it is spent. Necessities such as medical care will be free to all, and money will only be used to purchase luxuries.

Computerizing medical records and money will simplify matters.

A group of people who volunteer for the job will pay everyone for the work they do based upon the net benefit derived from that work. These Payers will pay anyone who does anything which provides net benefit, and the greater the net benefit the higher the pay. Also, people such as doctors and other medical personnel will get paid quickly because the net benefit from their work is realized rather quickly.

Once again, however, it is the Payers who pay the doctors, not YOU.

Computerized Records

When everyone's medical records are in a secure set of databases with redundancies built-in for backup, there will be no more schlepping x-rays across town from one office to another. All of your doctors and healthcare providers will have access (with your permission, of course!) to your entire medical history, current medications and treatments... everything relevant to giving you the best care possible without overlooking anything important.

Pay for Net Benefit

When people are paid based upon the net benefit received it will automatically cause people to behave differently... to behave in a more kind and helpful manner, since that is what will generate the most income for them.

Net benefit is derived by taking overall benefit and subtracting any negative consequences. This is why people are not paid until the net benefit can be calculated.

Waiting to be paid is not a major issue, however, when necessities are provided free to all and everyone still has the money and property they owned prior to transition to such a system.

If a doctor saves a life under the net benefit-based system, he will continue to be paid for having saved that life for as long as the person whose life he saved continues to live a productive life. In fact, that doctor will even get paid for net benefit provided by those who are influenced by the person they saved, if that influence generates net benefit. The doctor may also be paid a percentage of the net benefit provided by future offspring of the person who would have not had offspring if he/she had died instead of being saved.

So you can see that the medical profession would be a very lucrative choice of career for those who are good at it. Those who mistreat or otherwise harm patients would not last long, because their pay would be impacted by the negative consequences of their behavior and actions so they'd find another line of work that would suit them better rather quickly.
